

ABSTRACT

[0040.] A silane coated substrate with a consistent surface energy across its surface. This consistent silane layer has a contact angle with a variation of less than +/- 10 degrees as measured by a goniometer. The consistent silane layer also retains its consistency in moist environments.